

CNBC Africa to rebroadcast 'Titans of Africa: Raymond Ackerman'

CNBC Africa will be rebroadcasting the documentary series 'Titans of Africa' profiling the life and times of Raymond Ackerman on Saturday, 9 November at 6pm on DStv Channel 410.

Produced for CNBC Africa by ABN Pictures, "Titans of Africa: Raymond Ackerman", goes behind the iconic business he created, to take a more personal view on the man who founded the Pick n Pay family business and dynasty. Ackerman's wife, Wendy, who has always played a defining role in the business, features side-by-side with her husband, as they talk about the adventures, battles, and historical moments they experienced as they built the retail giant from four stores in the Cape in 1967 to a massive business today of over 1000 stores and franchises in southern Africa.

The documentary that reportedly had Twitter buzzing features archive footage, reenactments and all four of the Ackerman children, involved in the business at some level, as prominent voices.

'Titans of Africa: Raymond Ackerman' follows in the footsteps of other ABN Pictures documentary productions including 'Greece: An Economic Odyssey', 'Debt: A Global Horror Story', 'Europe: Recovery or Trainsmash', 'US Economy: Does Money Grow on Trees?', 'Africa - Astronomy Frontier: The Square Kilometre Array', and 'Liliesleaf: The Untold Story'.
