

Swindon Property expands into Nigeria

Swindon Property has signed an associate agreement with Nigerian-based property service firm Troloppe. The newly rebranded Swindon Nigeria will provide buying, selling, letting and client advisory services for the region's commercial real estate sector.

Geoff Kruger, business development and client advisory for sub-Saharan Africa, and Leye Taiwo, head of Swindon Nigeria

“We welcome the opportunity to work with Leye Taiwo, head of Swindon Nigeria, and directors Jonathan Millard and Tunde Adebutu, along with their very capable team,” says Geoff Kruger, business development and client advisory for sub-Saharan Africa.

The agreement forms part of Swindon Property's expansion plans into sub-Saharan Africa.

“The aim is to open 10 new regional offices outside of South Africa by the end of 2023 and to create the biggest professional network of commercial property advisors in Africa. We are looking to partner with others who demonstrate similar aspirations, philosophy, company culture and successful track record to deliver sustainable long-term results,” concludes Kruger.
