

Get in Toon... Be the best in the galaxy - animate Shatner!

MONTREAL, CANADA: Here's your chance to be the best in the galaxy - animate William Shatner, in a contest presented by Myouterspace.com and Toon Boom. The contest opened on 1 September 1 and will run until 1 December 2010.

Hosted by William Shatner, the Myouterspace Contest calls the greatest talent in the creative galaxy to come forward and shine!

Emmy Award-winning Toon Boom Animation Inc announced this week the launch of the Myouterspace Contest, hosted by William Shatner. This out-of-this-world initiative brings together Toon Boom, Myouterspace and the Academy of Art University, giving artists the opportunity to showcase their skills as top-notch animators.

The contest will challenge animators out there to create their own original video based on a short William Shatner monologue featuring myouterspace.com. Participants are required to use the Personal Learning Edition of Toon Boom Animate or Animate Pro to design and direct their own animated William Shatner using one of three audio voiceovers.

A 'unique opportunity'

A round of final voting online will decide the prizes, including scholarships for two online courses provided by Academy of Art University.

"This is a unique opportunity to bring together Sci-Fi and Animation fans. We look forward to seeing the outstanding animation both the Myouterspace and Toon Boom communities will create," shared Joan Vogelesang, president and chief executive officer at Toon Boom.

"Myouterspace.com creates opportunities for artists using the tools of their trade," said creative director Sammy Oriti.

"We've found great partners for that mission. Toon Boom's Animate Pro is a professional, creative program with an easy learning curve and rich tools for bringing imagination to the screen. Academy of Art University provides a collaborative program with active professionals, that's the kind of online innovation Myouterspace is about."
