Company Description

About We the People South Africa

What is often termed "the South African Miracle" was not a miracle at all but the consequence of an intense process of struggle, negotiation, and public participation. Backed by The Constitution Hill Trust, We the People South Africa was born to promote respect for the Constitution, human rights and democracy. We strive to animate the Constitution to help bridge the gap between its values and ideals and our lived reality.

Our Vision is for the people of South Africa to know, own and protect the Constitution to realise its promise.

Our Mission is to promote knowledge and understanding of the Constitution, its making and its impact on society.

We the People is premised on the understanding that the Constitution is a call to action rather than a static document. We do this by promoting knowledge of the Constitution and its values to inspire everyone to own it, live it and realise its promise for human rights and social justice.

Do you want to contribute to this cause? We the People, based at the Women's Jail of Constitution Hill, is looking for a volunteer Archivist.

Please send your CV with a cover letter to admin@wethepeoplesa.org and we will contact you for an interview.
