

Swedish House Mafia's to play SA in last tour

Swedish House Mafia have announced the dates and venues of the final leg of their world tour. The band claim that One Last Tour will be their most extravagant shows to date and will start in Dubai on 16 November, taking in India, Russia and South Africa for the first time.

The tour will then hit North America from February 2013 where the Swedes will once again play New York's Madison Square Garden as well as a night at the Barclay Center.

Tickets will go on sale in South Africa on 8 October from Computicket.

One Last Tour will be highly emotional as the band bid a farewell to their fans across the world and promises to create unrivalled memories for fans and band alike.
