

Advanced business continuity management

Is it a burden to test your BCP and keep it up-to-date?

Having Business Continuity Management (BCM) in place demonstrates a duty of care to your customers and suppliers. It's a visible way of meeting your customers' expectations and emphasising due diligence to key stakeholders. It helps safeguard your company's reputation. BCM will ensure you continue to operate and to meet legal, regulatory and contractual obligations.

- It aims to improve skills in achieving buy-in and support for BCP tests by playing the "BCP team building board game", and covers best-practice solutions for other current 'hot topics' in BCM like hacking and cybercrime.
- It will empower participants to leverage on success stories and practical case studies on real-life BCP/Disaster Recovery Planning (DRP) test conducted by leading institutions and multinationals.
- Facilitated discussion and hands-on exercises will allow delegates to share their current challenges and opinions.

Structure of Workshop :

- Day1 - Business Continuity best practice which covers BCP process objectives, risk management, BCP teams and buy-in, key business process identification, Business Impact Analysis, perform initial test, document BCP and BCP awareness program

Day2 - Reporting on BCP test, standards and guidelines, hot topics on BCP and how to convince management to buy-in your BCP test
