

Kludi design competition opens for entries

Entries are open for the 2012 Kludi Design Awards hosted in South Africa by On Tap and Kludi. Designed to recognise talent in the kitchen and bathroom design fields, design students, professional designers, architects and interior designers can enter either the professional or student category.

The design should allow for industrial manufacturing and have broad market appeal but be of a South African nature and look.

The deadline for entries for professional designers is 30 June and 31 July for design students. Winners will be notified by end September 2012. The winning entry will go to Austria to meet with the Kludi design and product development teams, and see the product manufactured globally.
