Deadline for 2012 Kludi Design Awards looms

The deadline to enter the Kludi Design Awards 2012 is next week Friday, 30 November 2012. Hosted by ON TAP and Kludi, the winning entries stand a chance to win a trip to Austria.

The competition has two categories: a professional and student category; all design students, professional designers, architects and interior designers are invited to enter the competition. Entrants are required to design a tap with a proudly South African nature, but the design should still allow for industrial manufacturing and have broad market appeal.

The designers with the winning entries for the competition will be flown to Austria, all flights and accommodation included. There they will have the chance to meet the Kludi design and product development teams. Winners will be notified on 28 February 2013.
