

Gareth Cliff to start new show, including WeChat streaming

Gareth Cliff is set to make a return to broadcasting, but he won't be on radio, or TV for that matter. Instead, it appears that Cliff, who recently left terrestrial radio station 5FM after 10 years, will make his return on WeChat.

While there have recently been whispers that Cliff could be hosting a show on the instant messaging platform, his new site CliffCentral.com appears to confirm it. The site lets visitors know that they will be able to "Join Gareth Cliff - live from 1 May" and promises an "unscripted. uncensored. unradio" experience.
