

Two new craft beers in League of Beer's latest 12-pack

The League of Beers, a Cape Town-based company that supplies craft beer online to gourmet beer lovers across the nation, has released its latest mixed case of craft beers, the 'Gift of giving you something new' case.

Craft beer has taken off dramatically in South Africa, with fans enjoying festivals in Johannesburg and Cape Town.

"This month there are two new craft beers," says Rob Heyns, co-founder of the League of Beers. "Both of them are dark in name and nature and they are from two of the key players in the Craft Beer Revolution: Jack Black and Darling."

He is passionate about craft beer and ensures that the beers represented are top notch, making this a perfect Christmas gift or corporate thank you.
