

Use Reuters' images for campaigns

Reuters images, represented in South Africa by The Bigger Picture, has announced that it has made its images separately available on its pictures site in sections such as business, industry, health, seasons and a collection of colour hues for ease of search and identification. The images are ready for use in calendars, print, TVC and online campaigns, where grabbing customers' attention is vital. The Reuters creative collection of images has been assessed for any risk of claims from people and places where this possibility exists and can be viewed at www.reuterspictures.com.
