

More South Africans to judge Cannes Lions

Three more South Africans have been appointed as judges of the outdoor, media and radio Lions juries at the Cannes Lions, the committee announced yesterday, Monday, 15 March 2010: TBWA's Damon Stapleton, The Jupiter Drawing Room's Anne van Rensburg and Net#work BBDO's Ivan Johnson.

Commenting on the juries, Terry Savage, chairman of the festival said, "Cannes Lions is a truly global event attracting thousands of entries of the highest creative calibre. The industry experts that we have picked to deliberate over and award the entries in the these categories are a true reflection of this, bringing together respected and acclaimed creatives from all corners of the world. It will be an honour to work with these teams."
