Masters & Savant Worldwide upgrades render farm

Masters & Savant Worldwide, a production company which creates ad-campaigns across all electronic and printed media, has recently upgraded its render farm. Its MD Roger Smythe states that it now has a 300-processor core and 496 gigabytes of physical memory, which makes it much faster. It can also deliver realistic and complex 3D work for print illustration briefs. The new equipment offers high definition and has already been used for some long form visual effects work for a feature film. For more, go to www.mastersandsavant.com.
