

David Todd to oversee IHG's new hotels in IMEA region

David Todd has been appointed as the InterContinental Hotels Group's new senior director of new hotels in the India, Middle East, and Africa region. Todd formerly held positions at IHG's corporate office and hotels in the Middle East.

In his new role, Todd will be tasked with streamlining and accelerating IHG's new hotel opening process acting as a centre of excellence for the IMEA region. Todd is also to collaborate with various functions across the corporate offices in Dubai and Delhi as well as build on existing and new relationships with our owners and business partners to achieve successful hotel openings across the region.
