

Klein Collection launched

By Brian Berkman: contributing editor, travel

6 Jun 2011

The Klein Collection was founded more than a year ago by two management consultants who travelled extensively and were constantly disappointed by the disconnect between what websites and brochures promised and what the properties delivered.

L-R Francois Laurence (co-founder), Kim Brits (marketing manager), Stephanus de Kock (co-founder)

Chartered accountant Francois Laurence and Rhode's Scholar Stephanus de Kock started the Klein Collection, a selection of upscale properties and experiences that have been personally vetted by a member of the Klein Collection's team.

Recently an event was held at the glorious Fusion Villa in Camps Bay, one of the properties offered by the Klein Collection, to officially open its doors for business.

According to marketing and client liaison manager Kim Brits, the Klein Collection helps clients to make more informed travel decisions by handling the booking for you. Their best rate guarantee means that you don't pay more than you would have had you booked at the establishment directly.

"In short, Klein Collection offers truthful accommodation reviews, a hand-picked selection of establishments (boutique hotels, B&Bs, villas, safari lodges etc.), authentic experiences and a best price guarantee," she says.

For more information, go to www.kleincollection.com.