

Moshito 2013 open for registrations

Delegates and exhibitors will have just over three months to prepare for the upcoming Moshito Music Conference and Exhibition, which officially opened for registration on Wednesday, 19 June 2013.

As preparations for the 10th Annual Moshito Music Conference and Exhibition gear up, the organizers report a growing interest in this year's event which also sees the Conference celebrating a decade of cutting-edge insights, music know-how and industry accomplishments.

As they did at its inception a decade ago, industry professionals from across South Africa, Africa and the international music business spectrum will once again flock to the Sandton Convention Center in Johannesburg from 21-23 September 2013, to network, exchange ideas and opinions, showcase their goods and services and much more.

Moshito is an essential part of the diary of individuals, businesses and organisations involved in all aspects of the music industry. Online delegate, student and exhibitor registration for Africa's leading music conference and expo is now open at www.moshito.co.za (click the 2013 tab).

Broadening the business of music

Moshito 2013 aims to broaden the business intelligence of music industry professionals, strengthen business networks for participants and inform delegates, traders and the public about the multifaceted and dynamic nature of what is truly a global cultural industry.

With access to all the plenary and breakaway sessions led by renowned industry experts and exhibitions by the industry's key stakeholders and service providers, delegates will not only be able to take a focused look at some of the key issues faced by the industry but also to gain perspective on collaborations with leading brands and opportunities in other industries.

Delegates will also be captivated by the ever popular Moshito Live Showcases which will shine the spotlight on some of the best breakthrough acts daily. While the Moshito Opening and Closing Concerts will ensure that delegates and the public's hips sway to the pulsing rhythms of the best talent the industry has to offer.

With a stimulating conference program, expanded expo section and plenty of live events on offer in 2013, the 10th Annual Moshito Music Conference and Exhibition is not to be missed by anyone in the business of music.
