

34 hilarious tweets from Mmusi Maimane's #AskMmusi Twitter town hall

 By Stuart Thomas

14 May 2015

Opening yourself up to Twitter is a risky business at the best of times. But when you're a recently elected South African political leader dealing with one of the most cynical Twitter communities on the planet, then things can go very badly wrong...

© Image source: Memeburn

That's the lesson DA leader Mmusi Maimane's had to find out the hard way. Viewed by many as the opposition party's attempt to replicate the rapid rise of Barack Obama, Maimane is also seen by some to be an empty vessel for other political interests.

The 35-year-old Maimane is his party's first black leader and drew wide praise for a speech he made to parliament earlier this year, in which he described president Jacob Zuma as a "broken man".

His communications team should perhaps have seen that now may not have been the best time to hold a Twitter town hall.

Nonetheless, they pressed ahead...

Continue reading the full article here.

ABOUT STUART THOMAS

Stuart abandoned what was beginning to look like a long, quiet career in academia for the frenetic world of tech journalism. Currently heading up the Memeburn team, he likes to run in his downtime. He won an award once. It now sits on his desk.

- Panama Papers: 10 things you need to know about the world's biggest ever leak - 4 Apr 2016
- What's going on with M4JAM? - 16 Mar 2016
- Could a smartphone app really help combat crime in SA? - 15 Mar 2016
- Why is this SA radio legend betting big on personality-driven streaming apps? - 14 Mar 2016
- Mxit: how did Alan Knott-Craig Jr's R500m bet go so badly wrong? - 27 Oct 2015

View my profile and articles...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>