

New South African partner for swissQprint

Effective 1 February 2012, swissQprint has appointed AWT as its new South African distributor partner. Described as a world leader in high volume, high quality UV, large format printing, it has also appointed Midcomp as a sub-distributor.

The association with these partners will allow the company to move its business forward in the South African market. The first demonstration UV flatbed printer left its Swiss factory on 1 February.

swissQprint

Adrian Wolman, MD of AWT has 32 years' experience in the signage and printing industries and is confident that the company will do the brand justice. With special focus on industrial applications, he has reputation on flatbed printing technology in the South African market.

Midcomp will provide the same high levels of technical support and service on all swissQprint products sold within this agreement.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>