

B-Secur and LifeQ announce partnership

B-Secur and LifeQ announced a collaboration to offer an advanced, integrated Electrocardiogram (ECG) and optical (PPG) based technology solution. The combined offering will provide superior sensing capabilities from wearable devices and enable advanced features for identification, wellness and health monitoring in next-generation everyday devices. Each company is widely recognised to feature best-in-class performance from their respective technologies, and with this collaboration device manufacturers and partners can now acquire an integrated ECG and PPG solution that combines the best of both worlds and offers potential for a new range of integrated wearables.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>