

#CandidConversations with Nadine von Moltke-Todd

Fifteen years ago Nadine von Moltke-Todd did not think she would ever get a chance to write for a living until someone gave her a chance.

Fast forward to 2019, and von Moltke-Todd has interviewed over 400 entrepreneurs, senior executives, investors, and subject-matter experts over the course of a decade.

“ Whether you are interviewing someone, pitching your company, or trying to make a sale, your main aim is to gather information so you can turn it into actionable insights. ”

According to Marnus Broodryk, founder of Beancounter and Brian Altriche, founder of Rocomamas, she is a master at interviewing people. One of the main reasons for this is she asks good follow up questions.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>