

Internet users in Nigeria hit 91.6 million

According to the Nigerian Communications Commission (NCC), the number of internet users in Nigeria's telecommunications networks has increased to 91.6 million in June.

Photo by rawpixel.com via Unsplash

The NCC made this disclosure in its Monthly Internet Subscribers Data for June 2017 on its website.

According to the data released, internet users increased to 91,598,757 in June as compared to 91,565,010 users recorded in May 2017, showing an increase of 33,747.

TelOne introduces 'Alert Me' service

27 Jul 2017

The data revealed that MTN had 31,691,070 subscribers browsing the internet on its network in the month of June.

It said that MTN had an increase of 28,642,9 internet subscribers in June.

The data showed that Globacom had a decrease of 218,482 with 27,184,002 customers browsing the internet on its network in June.

Airtel had 20,174,089 internet users in June, adding 261,428 customers to its May record of 19,912,661.

Data management: the centre of IoT projects

Morne Bekker 27 Jul 2017

In Etisalat, the data showed 12,549,596 customers who browsed the internet in June revealing a decrease of 293,828 users against the 12,843,424 users recorded in May.

Source: NAN

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>