

Digital agency People Input joins Dentsu Aegis Network

SENEGAL, Dakar – To strengthen its digital capabilities in Africa, Dentsu Aegis Network Sub Saharan Africa (SSA) has announced the addition of People Input, a digital agency in French speaking Africa, to its affiliate agency network in the West and Central Africa region.

Dawn Rowlands

Dentsu Aegis Network Sub Saharan Africa (SSA) is part of the global media group that specialises in media, digital and creative communications, spanning Southern Africa, Nigeria, Ghana, Kenya, and Tanzania; with owned businesses, affiliates and affiliate partnerships in another 32 markets across SSA.

People Input is the fastest growing digital agency in francophone Africa and operates from three offices within the West and Central African region being Senegal, Cote d'Ivoire and Cameroon. People Input's wide range of digital services has received multiple industry accolades in the region, including the 2016 Best Digital Agency in Senegal, 2016 Outstanding Enterprise Solution in West Africa, 2013 Best ICT company in Senegal and 2012 IT WAEMU Award. People Input's says its backbone is its people, and it has 60 young African and digital enthusiasts part of their team.

Digital expertise

It's digital expertise includes: digital strategy, creative design, both online and print, social media marketing and web and mobile app development. This partnership supports Dentsu Aegis Network's strategy of being a 100% digital economy business by 2020, and positions them as the leading communications network in West and Central Africa.

"We are very excited and proud to be affiliated to People Input. This affiliation gives us the opportunity to further realise our vision of being the top league of brand builders in Africa and innovate the way brands are built in Africa," Dentsu Aegis Network Sub Saharan Africa CEO, Dawn Rowlands said.

“We have been impressed by the outstanding work People Input continues to deliver for their clients. Digital transformation means that we can change the way that people experience brands like never before. The next five years are going to be a constant state of change, data is becoming a new currency and companies need to be agile or they will be left behind. The digital economy will be the biggest driver of brands growth.”

People Input general manager, Serigne Barro, added: “The communication business has changed considerably. The challenge today is to devise a coherent multi-layered and multi-channel strategy that makes a real impact on our clients’ activities and is still rooted in the African cultures that our teams come from.

“This partnership enables us to offer what the market expects: a local agency of international standard with proven expertise in a 360° approach to communication and a firm grasp of the cultural and sociological realities in each of our countries. With Dentsu Aegis Network we share the same vision and the same dynamic: we believe in Africa’s digital emergence and wish to develop it by supporting our customers’ digital transformation.”

This affiliation marks step-change for Dentsu Aegis Network SSA, providing immediate scale, talent and new capability in the digital arena in West and Central Africa.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>