Issued by Red & Yellow

15 Nov 2016

56 students. 10-minute talks. Two days of game-changing topics.

23 November marks the start of MAC Live 2016, an innovative programme designed to showcase the multiple talents of the Red & Yellow Marketing and Advertising Communications (MAC) Class of 2016.

The MAC programme has been producing some of the industry's top talent for over 16 years, a direct result of its highly practical, real-world approach. The launch of MAC Live looks to take this a step further with an annual, two-day celebration of skills and innovative thinking, the first of which will take place on 23 and 24 November.

Each student will have 10 minutes to present on a topic of their choice, ranging from Marketing and Branding to Digital and Future Trends, all interwoven with personal stories and thought-provoking, refreshing insights. This is not your run-of-the-mill 'conference'. No topic is the same as the next, and attendees can expect to be engaged and enlightened in bite-size 90-minute blocks - making it easy for busy professionals to pop in and out and hone in on the subjects they're most interested in.

Whether you're looking for the next ad giant or marketing leader, or simply eager to experience an industry talk like no other, MAC Live 2016 will not disappoint. Join us this November at 95-97 Durham Avenue, Salt River, Cape Town, to experience our extraordinary MAC graduates, live.

To RSVP, email or call us on 021 462 1946 by 21 November 2016.
