Trialogue is a responsible business consultancy and publishes the annual Trialogue Business in Society Handbook - the leading publication on corporate social investment in South Africa, providing reliable data and thought leadership that contributes to deepened understanding of, and impact in, development.

Trialogue conducts annual research with corporates and non-profit organisations (NPOs). The aggregated results, which provide a comprehensive overview of the state of CSI in South Africa, are featured in the handbook. NPOs are invited to complete the Trialogue NPO survey here. Participating organisations will receive a complimentary copy of the handbook after it is published and will also be listed as a research respondent. Additionally, all respondents will be entered into a lucky draw to win a full-page ad, worth R24,000.

With a decade left to achieve the global Sustainable Development Goals and the objectives of the National Development Plan, 2020 was pegged as a critical juncture at which to reflect on our achievements and plot the next decade. However, the best intentions for 2020 very quickly devolved into emergency responses to the Covid-19 crisis.

In this year's edition of the handbook, themed The Year of Physical Distancing and Social Reconnection, we leverage this unprecedented period to collate key lessons in collaboration and innovation as we explore how companies, non-profit organisations (NPO) and governments across the world are responding to the pandemic that is forcing physical distancing but presenting a unique opportunity for social reconnection.
