

Cape Town capitalises on World Cup

As the Final Draw gets closer, Cape Town is using the opportunity to market itself nationally and globally. International media, VIPS, current and former footballers from all over the world will be converging on the city over the next few days and the city is working hard to ensure that the media and VIP guests will have an excellent experience and receive a typically warm South African welcome.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>