

Media24 appoints new head of digital media

Andreij Horn has been promoted by Media24 as the new head of digital media for 24.com. Horn was previously chief information officer. Horn has pioneered an array of digital services in his long career; including central procurement platform, CommerceZone, used in Naspers' South African companies and TopAd Shop, the country's first online advertising booking platform.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>