

DStv launches Walka handheld TV

DStv Mobile will release the Walka handheld TV, a slim, lightweight device with a 3.5" viewing screen providing digital visual and audio for its subscribers on 1 December 2011. It will offer 16 DStv channels in sport, music, news, cartoons and general entertainment and includes the two new channels, M-Net Mobile and Discovery channel. This is the third such release from the company following the Drifta and the Drifta USB. For network coverage and more information, go to www.dstvmobile.com.
