

Splice Fest to celebrate all things AV

The third edition of the Splice Festival will be held from 10-13 May 2018 at the Rich Mix contemporary arts centre in London and the Stour Space multi-functional creative venue in Hackney Wick in the UK.

The Splice Festival is part of the EU-funded AV Node network and gathers more than 30 international AV artists and musicians to celebrate the diverse fields of audiovisual performance including, live cinema, AV sampling, VJing, and creative coding. Performances as well as workshops and talks from leading AV artists and industry experts, installations, and screenings will form part of this year's festival.
