

Sunday Times and PnP to give away R1m in school fees

The Sunday Times and Pick n Pay (PnP) are opening a competition where they will be giving away R1 million worth of school fee prizes.

As part of its ongoing commitment to the education of children in South Africa, the Sunday Times will support at least 100 families across the country who stand the chance to benefit from random giveaways of R10,000 each to contribute towards the cost of their children's education next year.

For families to qualify for one of 100 prizes, they can purchase a copy of the Sunday Times at any PnP store from 11 January to 1 February and SMS their name and till slip number to be entered into a random draw. Winners whose school fees are less than R10,000 will receive the balance in PnP vouchers. In addition, consumers purchasing a copy of the paper from PnP will also receive a free BIC stationery gift with each weekly edition, which parents can use towards building stationery packs for their children.

Stationery gifts with the Sunday Times will be available on the following dates:

- 11 January - Miss BIC Clic 3+1
- 18 January - BIC Kids Tropicolor Pencils Wallet 12
- 25 January - Tipp-Ex Shake 'n Choose
- 1 February - BIC Kids Turn & Colour 12 Wax Crayons

Winners' names will be published on page three of the Sunday Times on Sunday, 15 February 2015.