

Jarana to take SAA reins from 1 November 2017

NEWSWATCH: Current head of Vodacom Business, Vuyani Jarana, will be taking the reins at South African Airways (SAA) from 1 November 2017.

According to reports, one of Jarana's major responsibilities will be to ensure the effective implementation of SAA's recently finalised five-year corporate plan. The company must return to commercial sustainability in the shortest time possible.

Vuyani Jarana new SAA CEO

Linda Ensor 4 Aug 2017

According to the statement by SAA, the appointment of Jarana will bring stability at the executive tier of the airline's leadership and will also enable acting CEO Musa Zwane to return to the maintenance subsidiary, SAA Technical, where he is full-time CEO.

For more:

- Starting date for new SAA CEO finally set via Fin24
- Vuyani Jarana to take over as CEO of South African Airways from November 1 via Logistics Update Africa

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>