

Queen Victoria Hotel on Condè Nast UK Hot List

The coveted Condè Nast UK Hot List has named Queen Victoria Hotel in Cape Town one of 2012's top hotels in the world; the hotel opened doors a year ago.

The Queen Victoria Hotel is described by Condè Nast as, "royal and sumptuous with purple accents and monogrammed robes. Guest rooms are decorated in a soothing palette of silver, grey and taupe. Porcelain-tiled bathrooms have restored antique vanities and original artwork."

The hotel falls under the Newmark Hotels portfolio; with heritage that spans 30-years, Newmark Hotels was established in 1972 with the opening of one of Cape Town's signature properties; the Ambassador Hotel in Bantry Bay.

"The hospitality industry landscape has certainly evolved since 1972, yet through the recent economic hard times Newmark Hotels has been fortunate enough to weather the storm. I believe it has been the considered strategic decisions based on solid management fundamentals that have ensured we maintain our competitive edge," reveals Managing Director of Newmark Hotels, Neil Markovitz.
