

Lufthansa to introduce flights to the US, Southeast Asia

German airline Lufthansa will introduce new flights to the USA and Southeast Asia in mid-2019.

From 3 May 2019, Lufthansa will offer its first connections from Frankfurt to Austin in Texas; an Airbus A330-300 will be in service five times a week on the route between the destinations. Additionally, the airline will also introduce a connection from Munich to Bangkok in Thailand on 1 June 2019; an Airbus A350-900 will be used, which will depart daily.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>