

Atterbury Theatre's Optog! to visit towns and villages in SA, Namibia

The Atterbury Theatre's Optog! travelling festival will make stops in towns and villages across South Africa and Namibia over the next seven months. It is set to showcase 25 different artists and performers in 250 shows on 55 stages.

The Atterbury Trust plans to leave something of real value behind in every community that Optog! visits and will do a little something to improve or enhance local theatres at almost every stop on the tour. Optog! uses the expertise, resources and networks that have been built since the theatre first opened in 2011.
