

Here they are... 2014 MTN Radio Awards My Station listener votes finalists

The one MTN Radio Awards category where listeners are totally in control of the outcome is the My Station category. Stations had to get their listeners to vote for them by SMS and were encouraged to promote this competition on air and on social media.

For listeners there was good reason to vote besides showing support for your favourite station - there was the added incentive of a prize that includes a VIP trip to the MTN Radio Awards, a smartphone with R500 Airtime, and a trip for two to Florida in the USA, sponsored by Delta Air Lines. The lucky listener who won the bumper prize is Cornelia Smit who voted for Radio Pretoria.

"It was fascinating to see the various stations' executions of their promotions to get their listeners to vote," says Lance Rothschild, CEO of the MTN Radio Awards. "When the voting lines closed, the total number of votes exceeded 740,000 - a growth of 85% over last year."

"This category is important for the stations as it demonstrates the affinity that the listeners have for the brand," says Brain Gouldie, Chief Marketing Officer of MTN. "When your customers are prepared to endorse you in this fashion, it means that your brand has substantial traction and that you are making a significant impact in your customers' lives. This resonates with MTN's objectives in that we strive to build lasting relationships with our clients."
