

+LIVE+ returns to SA in November

+ LIVE + - with the original lineup of +LIVE+ is Ed Kowalczyk (vocals, guitar), Chad Taylor (guitar, backing vocals), Patrick Dahlheimer (bass) and Chad Gracey (drums, percussion) - will perform in South Africa as part of the band's 25th Anniversary Throwing Copper Tour in November 2020.

They will take to the stage at the Sun Arena-Time Square, Menlyn Maine in Pretoria on 6 November before heading to the GrandWest Grand Arena on 10 November.

As one of the most successful and enduring alternative bands of the last thirty years, +LIVE+ has a catalogue featuring some of alternative rock's most iconic hits, including "Lightning Crashes", "I Alone", "Selling the Drama", "The Dolphin's Cry", "Overcome" and "Heaven" many of which have been responsible for shaping the musical landscape for alternative rock around the globe.

This tour sees +LIVE+ returning to the Grand Arena in Cape Town and the Sun Arena in Pretoria almost three years to the day since they opened the Time Square venue with their sold-out Reunion Tour back in 2017.

To mark the occasion, AMP Events have chosen to keep ticket prices unchanged. So, fans will be able to pick up tickets for the exact same price as the sold-out 2017 shows!

“Fans of +LIVE+ have always shown incredible support when this band tours SA,” says AMP owner Andy Mac. “Tickets sell out in record time. Every time. The decision to keep ticket prices at 2017 level is our way of thanking the fans for always having our backs and supporting us in our vision for more Rock n Roll in SA. Being able to bring bands with a legacy, such as +LIVE+, is the reason I started AMP Events in the first place and I can’t wait to see them back on stage!”

Tickets go on sale on Thursday, 13 February at 9am via www.computicket.com.
