

Credence Security and NetClean give 5% of profits to Childline

Credence Security, specialist security distributor, and NetClean, a provider of intelligence solutions to detect, block and analyse digital media to create a safer society, have announced that 5% of sales of NetClean products will be donated to Childline Gauteng. The company's first deposit to Childline was made earlier this year, with more to follow. Childline is a non-profit organisation that works to protect children from all forms of abuse and violence, they aim to create a culture of children's rights in South Africa. NetClean specialises in prevention of online child sex abuse, and its solutions are being used worldwide by multinational companies, government agencies, ISP's and law enforcement professionals, to fight the scourge of child abuse. Contributions from Credence Security will directly enable Childline Gauteng to maintain its services.
