

Adams & Adams named best IP law firm in SA

Law firm Adams & Adams has been named South African Intellectual Property Law Firm of the Year 2014 at the Managing IP Global Awards. The winners are selected through a review of market developments, peer and client feedback and research for the World IP Survey.

"We are delighted to be acknowledged for our achievements. I think this demonstrates our commitment to providing the very best legal advice at all times," says Gérard du Plessis, chairman of the firm. "I believe the fact that we view each client relationship as a collaborative partnership is a winning formula. We approach every client with the aim of delivering the most innovative solution to their business requirements through a highly-individualised service and exceptional professional expertise."

Offices across Africa

Adams & Adams IP practice is supported by a robust commercial, property and litigation practice. The firm currently has 68 partners and a further professional complement of 110 experienced attorneys and candidate attorneys.

It has offices in South Africa (Pretoria, Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban), Mozambique (ARIPO), Angola, Tanzania (Zanzibar), Burundi, Lesotho, Swaziland, Botswana, Namibia and an OAPI office based in Cameroon. It also has a world-wide network of attorney correspondents and associates, enabling the firm to handle both intellectual property and legal matters in any country.
