

Apply now for 6-month internship at Boeing in Seattle

Boeing is calling all students interested in a career in aerospace to apply for its fully paid, six-month International Business Intern Programme (IBIP), based in Seattle, Washington.

Launched in 2012, IBIP is described as a programme which gives valuable exposure to Boeing's latest advances in business and technology, with hands-on experience of a variety of disciplines, including business operations, finance, marketing, and strategy.

"It's a superb bridge to the working world," says J Miguel Santos, managing director for sub-Saharan Africa of Boeing International and director of international sales for Boeing Commercial Aeroplanes in Africa.

"IBIP helps ensure a robust talent pipeline for the industry and it's a splendid opportunity for the interns to get exposure and experience at the world's largest aerospace company," he says.

Minimum requirements

- You must be enrolled in tertiary education, or have graduated within a year of 18 January 2019
- Strong academic performance

Process

Entries close on 22 July 2018. Candidates will be interviewed in August and September, and the internships start in January.

Interested students can apply here and enter requisition number 1800061877.