

Production on Showmax original series kicks off

Local YouTuber Julia Anastasopoulos, more famously known as Suzelle DIY, will be featured in Showmax's original series, Tali's Wedding Diary. The production on the eight-part mockumentary style series has already begun and is expected to premiere in December.

The show centres around Anastasopoulos' character, Tali, who has decided to document the build up to her wedding in Cape Town. The show will be directed by its co-creator, Ari Kruger who is known for his work on commercials, music videos, and online content.

Showmax is also currently working with Mzansi Magic on a television reworking of the film iNumber Number.
