

Facebook's first print magazine - Grow

Facebook has launched its very first magazine, Grow. It is described as 'a quarterly magazine for business leaders' and was first spotted in business class lounges at Heathrow and a few more exclusive spots in and around London in early June 2018.

The first issue is labelled 'Issue One' and features a white on black cover image of Swedish retail guru Oscar Olsson and explores niche brands. Facebook VP for Europe, the Middle East, and Africa Nicola Mendelsohn says that the magazine started life at a small event in the English countryside about a half-year ago.
