

HP expands large format media portfolio

HP has recently added three new papers to its large format media portfolio which are designed especially for print service providers and creatives. The portfolio now includes papers for a variety of uses, including graphic design, professional photography, digital fine arts, prepress/proofing, and commercial and industrial printing. More information is available at www.hp.com/go/designjet/supplies.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>