

StarAfrica.com pulls out all stops for AFCON 2013

For the Orange Africa Cup of Nations (AFCON) held in South Africa in 2013, StarAfrica.com has pulled out all the stops to make sure all internet users enjoy the tournament.

Some of the efforts StarAfrica.com has made, include:

- a team of sports journalists based in South Africa to bring live and exclusive coverage of the events, and recapture the atmosphere in the host cities;
- videos made on location featuring the day's events;
- a news feed including the latest items available on Twitter and Facebook;
- all matches with live text commentary, introducing the teams and their players, with live commentary of the matches, statistics and analysis after the game, along with interviews with the players and coaches;
- a photo gallery to relive the action and feel the atmosphere;
- a team of sports reporters and supporters in various African countries, providing articles and analysis of the competition;
