

Africa24 Media debuts talk show

Africa24 Media and its broadcast partners have debuted a talk show, Salim Amin's The Scoop!, which will see people sharing their secrets of success, advice with their fellow Africans.

A Young Global Leader, and son of famed journalist Mohamed Amin, Salim has spent the last two decades travelling across the continent, meeting movers and shakers, getting to know them and their stories.

Kicking off the inaugural show is Jeff Koinange, renowned international journalist. From entertainment superstars like Akon and Jude Law, to entrepreneurs Sophia Bekele and Kris Senanu, business mogul Dr. Manu Chandaria and even Kenya's Chief Justice, Dr. Willy Mutunga, the best and brightest of the continent are having coffee and telling their stories to Amin. Guests from Cameroon, Ethiopia, Ghana, Kenya, Senegal, Tanzania and more, make up season one.

Africa24 Media is the pan African, international quality production house, telling stories of Africa's unique and special people, places and happenings.

Starting the first week of October, The Scoop! will be seen in Africa and internationally on TV Continental, VoxAfrica and WBS Uganda, with over a dozen other African broadcasters around the continent receiving the show from our distribution partners Canal France International (CFI). This represents a potential viewership of over 150 million people, across four continents. Online The Scoop! will be seen on websites boasting over 15 million viewers daily, including Africaspeaksforafrica.org, Africa.com, capitalfm.co.ke and a24media.com.
