

Zutari offers pro bono services to facilities, small businesses

Through its local office in KwaZulu-Natal, consulting engineering firm Zutari is offering its services for free in August to support the #RebuildSA efforts following the recent unrest in the province. Targeted are public facilities like clinics and schools, as well as small businesses that suffered property damaged.

“We have mobilised our staff in the local office here in KZN to assist with advice, condition assessments and any civil engineering services required to help those impacted,” says Zutari KZN office manager Imraan Mahomed.

“As a local KZN company, which had many of our staff, their families and friends affected, this is our contribution in support of efforts to rebuild,” comments Mahomed.

Local municipalities and businesses can contact Zutari’s Terresha Moodley in eThekweni on 0832242687 to request support.
