

Howard Audio teams with In Bloom to bring awareness on gender issues

Issued by Howard Audio 13 Mar 2024

Howard Audio is very proud to have been the full turnkey audio solution for final mix and sound design in stereo and 5.1 surround for In Bloom. Howard Audio attended the launch of the project last week.

In Bloom is a unique anthology of five compelling short films spanning different countries and cultures whi dives into the complexities of gender issues following characters on the brink of life defining moments, b choice or circumstance.

The collection tells unheard stories addressing a range of crucial issues including period poverty, child marriage, gender-based violence, HIV self-stigma, family planning and women's economic empowerment We are honoured to be part of such an initiative to help bring awareness and play our role as change makers.

In Bloom officially released on channels BET, MTV, and MTV BASE on 8 March in celebration of International Women's Day, followed by its online release on 9 March.

Huge thank you to our clients at Diprente and Khulking Media for trusting us with this amazing project.
