

Calling legal journos to enter awards

Entries are now open for the Webber Wentzel Legal Journalist of the Year award, which recognises outstanding work in the field of legal journalism.

The award is open to any journalist reporting on legal issues in print, online or broadcast media in South Africa. The two categories, each worth R50 000 are print and online (including blogs); and broadcast (TV and radio).

Entries close at 5pm on Wednesday 9 September 2009 and previous winners may enter.
