

Dedicated hospitality career site offers 1000 jobs

Hotel & Restaurant launched its dedicated careers portal for the hospitality industry, yesterday March 2010. It went live with approximately one thousand job opportunities spanning almost a hundred employment categories.

Recruiters can list vacancies easily and job seekers are able to search within their career field, read details of the positions available and simply apply online, explained the publisher, Bradley Kantor. The move is another step in providing a fully comprehensive solution to the industry.

"We are developing the brand to be positioned as the number one source of information across the entire hospitality sector. We have already achieved this with our monthly magazine, now available as both a print copy and a digizine, the weekly webletter and website, which is updated constantly. The careers portal adds another significant element to our offering."
