

Auditions for 'Women...The Real Architects of Society'

Starting this weekend, former Miss South Africa, Joan Ramagoshi will be holding auditions for her third 'Women...The Real Architects of Society' event.

Johannesburg auditions will be held 19-20 July at Baseline and 27-28 July at the State Theatre in Pretoria for aspiring musicians, bands, dancers and fashion designers.

The event, featuring well known speakers and covering topics from business to nutrition, is set to attract over 500 up and coming South African women on 24 August at Vodaworld.

"Through this event, I aim to give women the opportunity to enter into a conversation with the guest speaker and me on issues that are important to them. By auditioning fresh, undiscovered talent, I am also able to give new musicians, designers and dancers the opportunity to perform for a large, influential audience," says Ramagoshi.

"In addition to this exposure, I will continue to invest in the performers long after the event by assisting them with further tuition and other opportunities to help them realise their dreams," she concludes.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>