

State Theatre Facebook promotion offers free VIP tickets

As part of its promotion campaign to highlight its refreshed website and social media sites, the South African State Theatre is offering Facebook fans the opportunity to win a VIP theatre experience for 10 people, which includes VIP access, snacks and the opportunity to meet the directors and actors of any State Theatre production the winner chooses.

There are also daily chances to win double tickets to any of its production. The competition app is hosted on the new official Facebook fan page and on its website. A new winner will be announced every day in July, so fans are encouraged to visit the fan page and website daily for a chance to win.

The South African State Theatre CEO, Dr Quinton Simpson, says, "Theatre builds culture, so we encourage theatre fans across South Africa to support SA theatre and connect with us online. We look forward to all our engagements now and in the future."
