

Creative Week New York 2012: Registration open

NEW YORK, US: Creativity lives every day. Creativity is everywhere...From 7-11 May, all things creative will be celebrated at Creative Week New York. Advertising, design, art, copy, technology, pop culture and everything in between - this is the week where the creative world converges to share the excitement and passion for creativity.

See the current schedule and then reserve your spot for what the organisers reckon will be an amazing week.

Creative Week's packages are flexible and include:

The One Show Awards - Announcing winners of the One Show, One Show Design and One Show Interactive international competitions

The Creative unConference - The brightest minds in the creative industry gather for a faced-paced, free-form, highly interactive event to answer the prompt "What I Learned From..." share ideas and explore opportunities emerging in today's shifting media landscape

The Education Summit - A forum for advertising's top professionals and educators to discuss the current state of the industry, trends, and best methods to prepare our next generation of creatives for the job market

Art Directors Club Annual Awards Show and Exhibition

The Young Ones Portfolio Reviews - An opportunity for college and university students in advertising and design to have their portfolios reviewed by leading creative directors.

And new for this year, we introduce a robust thought leadership series with some of the world's top creative visionaries.

Groups of 5 or more receive a 15% discounted rate.

Questions about packages? Contact us and we'll be happy to help.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>